

What is Volunteering Barnet and how can it help your organisation?

Volunteering Barnet is Barnet's Volunteer Centre, delivered by Groundwork London in partnership with The London Borough of Barnet. We bring volunteers and organisations together to strengthen communities and promote all aspects of volunteering in the borough.

We offer a free bespoke support for all voluntary and community organisations in the borough that are looking to harness the power of volunteers. We provide:

- Support in uploading your opportunities and connecting with and managing new volunteer applications on Barnet's Volunteering Barnet platform, a “one-stop-shop” for all of your volunteer recruitment needs!
- A one-to-one advice, capacity building and development session, designed around your organisation and your own needs.
- Regular training in all areas of volunteer recruitment, management and retention.
- A full resource bank covering volunteer management best practice from developing roles to saying goodbye to volunteers, designed to make your organisations volunteer management easy, including helpful guides, templates and checklists

In addition to organisational support, we also want to get as many people into volunteering as we can, and to support residents who may want to start a volunteering journey. Volunteering can be an amazing way to give back to your community, as a pathway into employment or just as a way of meeting new friends in your area. We are committed to thanking volunteers, through training and opportunities to meet other volunteers.

We'd love to visit you and showcase to the people you support what volunteering is all about, deliver a talk on exciting opportunities currently available, or even creating a micro-volunteering opportunity such as creating seed bombs!
